It has been another successful year for the Communications Committee and the Keystone Professional. As the Keystone continues to evolve, we are working on redefining who we are, what information we provide and how we distribute that information to our members. Unfortunately, we have lost several of our committee members this year so I must thank APEGM's new Volunteer Coordinator Diana Vander Aa for her efforts in recruiting several potential new members to assist with our continued evolution.

This year also marked the first year of our new format. Having entered an agreement with a local firm to assist us with the production of the Keystone, we have been very pleased with how it has turned out. Looking forward, the upcoming year will include more historical features from the Heritage Committee along with a new series examining immigration and emigration issues for engineers.

As chair of this committee, I want to take this opportunity to thank all of the committee members, both past and present for their efforts and dedication in making the Keystone Professional the success that it is.
